ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Many thanks to the students and faculty advisors from Syracuse University, SUNY at Albany and Brockport who worked so diligently in looking at the issues and speculating on the proposed outcomes which will affect Long Term Care in the next century. In addition, the following people rendered assistance which proved invaluable. Arnie Gissin, Area Administrator of the New York State Office of Health Systems Management provided the database and assisted us in teaching the seminar. Graduate assistants Tracy Logel, Kristine Kotary, and Michael Gwizdala wrote invaluable working papers, made arrangements for the events that comprised PMS, collected data and helped solve many problems. Barbara Kessler Gudhe helped the students with the manuscripts, John Phillips provided us with encouragement and Richard D. Evans assisted the seminar in developing issues.

At this time, we would also like to offer our congratulations to Jeanne Hutchins, Jean Doremus and Laura Volk, members of the Brockport Team who have recently won the Grant Garvey Award for the outstanding student manuscript in Public Administration in 1980. Their paper, "A National Cost-Containment Strategy for Long Term Care" was a direct outgrowth of the PMS process and will appear in the Public Administration Review later this summer.
