Executive Director’s Corner

Everything I want to write about now circles back to “thank you.” We have just completed two weeks of very high profile events for the College during a generally very busy time on campus. Those two weeks included the SUNY Board of Trustees meeting on our campus, a new model for the Accepted Student Open House and the reaccreditation visit by the Middle States accreditation team. Each of these events alone required a great deal of additional effort and together it made for a couple of high stress weeks. We did great! We were really prepared and our services really impressed our campus visitors. The BASC Touch was evident everywhere they looked, thank you for a great job!

You will start to see our new tagline, “serving you best by knowing you first,” appearing on our announcements and advertisements. Thank you to the development team who worked on this. A tagline is a saying that expresses what our customers can expect from us and I think the team developed a great one to represent BASC! It expresses our vision of creating a positive impression with each interaction and an expectation with our customers that getting to know them is important to us. It also describes how well we engage with the campus everyday.

“Serving you best by knowing you first” also speaks to our goal for the BASC team internally. Thank you for your participation in the employee opinion survey and the follow up focus groups to provide us with your candid feedback. We need to know each other in order to work well together. We are working our way through the comments (now numbering well over 1,000) to identify the few most important themes for us to work on as an organization. We can’t work on everything at once so we are narrowing down where to start. While the focus groups may have felt a little negative (talking mostly about what isn’t going well), remember the survey results overall were very positive and identified lots of things about BASC that people really like. We will use this feedback to help remain a good organization and to help figure out how to make ourselves better. Before you leave for the summer, your unit or department will have identified the one or two things it will be working on first.

Thank you in advance for the great job I know we will do over the next several weeks as we wrap up this semester. With just over four weeks remaining and the nice weather we have outside, everyone is starting to get antsy for summer. Thanks for staying focused on providing a great BASC experience for our customers right up until the end. Looking forward to working together over the next several weeks!

Diane

BASC Welcomes New Employee
L. to R: Cathy Legacy, Hannah Galardo, Jean Gilman & Cody Butlin
Inge Klier-Hinkley is a part-time employee at Brockway Dining Hall, and first became a member of the BASC team 13 years ago working with Garnishes. Inge then left BASC to work at the Brockport Child Development Center, and returned two and a half years ago to her current position at Brockway.

Inge was born in Germany and made the journey to the United States at the age of three. She grew up not far from here (in Greece, NY), and went on to receive her Bachelor of Fine Arts degree from the Pratt Institute in NYC. After working in retail management for 30 years, Inge moved back to upstate and began her career here at BASC.

Inge lives the BASC mission, vision and values daily, bringing an air of positivity and responsibility to the workplace. With her great management experience, Inge exudes a PASSION FOR EXCELLENCE in everything she does, and she inspires her fellow employees to do the same.

One of Inge’s favorite things about coming to Brockway everyday is her chance to work with a wonderful student population, and a great group of people that make up her TEAM here at BASC.

Inge brings to BASC a kind and welcoming personality that is appreciated by employees and students alike. She takes pride in her chance to personally acknowledge the students that frequent Brockway day to day, and feels that she extends an atmosphere of cheerfulness to the dining hall. She always shows her good STEWARDSHIP to the campus community, and constantly looks to brighten students’ days with a cheerful greeting. “Remembering students’ names is important.” Inge says. “It’s that personal touch that makes for a happy and comfortable environment.”

Inge feels that it is very important to exude optimism and thoughtfulness in order to maintain pleasant and friendly surroundings. She sees respectful behavior and a positive attitude as being the key to a happy workplace (ORGANIZATIONAL INTEGRITY).

In her spare time, Inge is an avid gardener, growing both plants and vegetables on her property. She and her husband are in the process of renovating their old home, and she very much enjoys the creativity of restoring and refurbishing. Inge and her husband are very involved with their family life. They have two step-daughters, and six grandchildren! She is also an animal lover and nature enthusiast.

As a friendly face in Brockway Dining Hall, Inge does indeed bring a personal touch to her work here at BASC, and it doesn’t go unnoticed!
BASC will be honored for its ongoing commitment to the Brockport Foundation and student scholarships with the induction into the Ernest C. Hartwell Society at the President’s Donor Recognition Dinner on April 27. BASC supports the Foundation through three scholarship programs: the BASC/Barnes & Noble and BASC/Next Generation student scholarships, the Sandra Mason endowed scholarship for relatives of BASC employees, and the BASC Employee Scholarship.

We also contribute through the Faculty/Staff Campaign with promotions like Denim Dollar$ for scholars where BASC employees wore jeans on Fridays this semester for a minimum $1 donation. As of April 5 nearly $150 was collected through this promotion. Thanks to all employees who participated in this event and helped support the College mission of student success through your generosity!

Jenny is an art history major in her junior year.
Year after year we hear and read the same advice about handling food carefully in the summer because of foodborne illness being more prevalent in the warmer weather. Do foodborne illnesses increase during the summer months? If so, why?

The answer is yes they do increase during the summer months and the answer appears to be twofold. First, there are the natural causes. Bacteria is present throughout our surrounding environment in soil, air, water, and in the bodies of people and animals. These micro-organisms grow faster at temperatures from 90 - 110°F. Bacteria also need moisture to flourish and summer weather is often hot and humid. Given the right circumstances, harmful bacteria can quickly multiply on food to large numbers. When this happens, someone eating the food can potentially get sick.

Second, outside activities increase in people’s lives. More people are cooking outside at picnics, barbeques, and on camping trips. The safety that a kitchen provides (thermostat controlled cooking, refrigeration, and washing facilities) are usually not available.

Fortunately, people seldom get sick from contaminated food because most people have a healthy immune system that protects them not only from harmful bacteria on food, but from other harmful organisms in the environment.

We can prevent foodborne illnesses by following these four simple steps to safer food in the summertime:

1. Clean - Wash hands and surfaces often
2. Separate - Don’t cross contaminate
3. Chill - Refrigerate promptly
4. Leftovers - Food left out of refrigeration for more than two hours may not be safe to eat. Above 90°F, food should not be left out over one hour. Play it safe; put leftovers back on ice once you finish eating so they do not spoil or become unsafe to consume.

When in doubt, throw it out!

Safety Report
Below is a breakdown of accidents since February 3, 2012: Cuts (5), Burns (3), Strain (3), Contusions (2) = 13 total accidents.

Congratulations to our latest Safety BINGO winners: Craig McClinic ($300), Steve Osborne ($75).

BASC Tagline Update

BASC’s new tagline, Serving you best by knowing you first, will begin to be incorporated into our marketing materials over the next several months. This tagline was developed by a team of BASC employees including Gabe Rivera, Cathy Legacy, Gail Thiel, Paul Brundage, Patty Sorel, Anna Hintz, Kelly Bodine, and Paige Doerner. After lots of testing with both employees and customers, it is now ready to be put into action.

The tagline will become part of our brand conversation similar to the way we talk about our mission, vision, and values. Serving you best by knowing you first is really the way in which we deliver a positive experience with our customers and with each other. It’s all about building relationships and getting to know those with whom we interact. Serving you best by knowing you first is our “secret sauce” and the key to our success.

Best of luck to all of our graduating student managers.
Thank you for all the hard work you have put in over the years.

Fitness Opportunities

Right here on The College at Brockport campus, BASC employees can find great opportunities to stay fit and healthy, and all for little to no cost! Whether you enjoy working out at the gym, ice skating, playing a game of racquetball or swimming laps, the Tuttle Athletic Complex and Recreational Services offer a multitude of options for employees to keep up with their fitness goals!

A great opportunity to have fun with the family and get in some exercise is the Open Skating at the Tuttle Ice Arena. For $5 or less, employees can rent skates, take lessons, and bring their families and friends to enjoy a fun and healthy activity!

Brockway employee Theresa Herzog can often be found at the Tuttle Ice Arena with her family, and encourages other employees to take advantage of all the fitness opportunities offered on campus. She has the schedule for open skate programmed into her cell phone, so that on the weekends she can invite family, friends, and other BASC employees to join her for a low cost, fun, and healthy activity! Instead of buying expensive gym memberships off campus, Theresa suggests employees utilize the benefits of the great facilities on campus.

Steve Miller in Administration also takes advantage of the great opportunities offered by Recreational Services for employees. Steve regularly makes use of the swimming facilities and fitness center. He has been a card holder at Recreational Services for quite some time, and encourages other BASC employees to purchase faculty/staff memberships, which allow access to all recreational areas and activities provided in the Tuttle Athletic Complex. Memberships currently start at $50 per semester.

Even more fitness opportunities will be available to employees with the opening of the Special Events Recreation Center (SERC) this fall. All employees are encouraged to take advantage of the great fitness and wellness opportunities right here on the Brockport campus.

Contact Recreational Services with any questions regarding member- ships, schedules, activities, etc. at the Hub Office x2681, or visit www.brockport.edu/recservices for more information about any of these programs and activities.
Culinary Skills Training Opportunity

Dining Services will offer their second “Culinary Skills Training” for two teams of six employees on Friday, August 10. Similar to the first class in January, the goal of this training is to provide an opportunity for dining employees to hone their culinary skills, exercise creativity, and gain experience creating recipes from whole foods.

This day-long training will be a little different from January’s based on feedback received. Employees who participate will receive the list of major ingredients well in advance, have the opportunity to provide more input on the recipes used, and develop menus that are directly applicable to everyday cooking in our operations. Chef Richard Reynolds and Assistant Executive Director Kevin Craig will not participate in the actual production, but rather will serve as advisors to each team. The day will culminate with the preparation of food for 100 paying guests who are having a function that day.

Any Dining Service employee interested in participating in this fun, hands-on training activity should see their manager to sign up. Don’t miss out on this interactive learning opportunity!

Afterwards, employees may head to Brockport Bowl for an afternoon of bowling, food, fun, laughs, and lots of prizes. BASC is also paying for shoe rentals and three games of bowling. Both Sarah and Yvonne will be recognized at the annual College Recognition Dinner on Thursday, May 3.

We would also like to recognize all of this year’s nominees for employee of the year. Choosing this year’s winners was not an easy task, as there were many deserving candidates. Also, as part of the Employee Wellness Program, any employee that fully participates (reports steps and cups each day) in the Eat Well Live Well Challenge will receive a $50 credit that can be used towards a wellness activity. Such activities include a gym membership, weight management program, exercise class, smoking cessation, massage, dietitian/nutritionist, personal trainer, yoga, meditation class, or workout equipment. Eligible employees may bring a receipt from the wellness activity to Human Resources by May 11, 2012 and will be reimbursed up to $50 in your paycheck.
