

Jigsaw

Volume 2015 | Issue 1

Article 9

2015

Entropy

Allyson Osborne

The College at Brockport, aborn2@brockport.edu

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.brockport.edu/jigsaw>

Part of the Poetry Commons

Repository Citation

Osborne, Allyson (2015) "Entropy," Jigsaw: Vol. 2015 : Iss. 1 , Article 9.

Available at: <https://digitalcommons.brockport.edu/jigsaw/vol2015/iss1/9>

This Poem is brought to you for free and open access by Digital Commons @Brockport. It has been accepted for inclusion in Jigsaw by an authorized editor of Digital Commons @Brockport. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@brockport.edu.

Entropy

The water just isn't the same lacking your hands, without my name on your mouth, or the wind on bared arms, but to admit that I'm scared would require I had a voice to speak it with; still this white noise is so damn loud without your breath in my ear, and it's shocking the depth of emotion that I witness when deprived of your caress;
How absurd that just your presence stirs me, and the lack of laments on every single inch of my lips,
and each one of my fingertips.

By Allyson Osborne