3-2009

Blended Planning: Teamwork for the Library-2-LMS Conference Spawns New Partnerships

Jennifer Little Kegler

The College at Brockport, jkegler@brockport.edu

Follow this and additional works at: http://digitalcommons.brockport.edu/lib_presentations

Part of the Graphics and Human Computer Interfaces Commons, Higher Education Commons, Information Literacy Commons, and the Instructional Media Design Commons

Repository Citation

This Presentation is brought to you for free and open access by the Drake Memorial Library at Digital Commons @Brockport. It has been accepted for inclusion in Library Presentations by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @Brockport. For more information, please contact kmyers@brockport.edu.
Blended Planning: Teamwork for the Library-2-LMS
Conference Spawns New Partnerships
Jennifer J. Little, Reference Librarian/Coordinator of Library Instruction

One Day Conference
In 2008 the College at Brockport's librarians and IT staff stirred up a successful one-day conference: "Integrating Library Services into Learning Management Systems." "Library-2-LMS" (its shortened title) was a one-day regional conference where participants learned about ways in which libraries had incorporated information, databases, tutorials, and assessment instruments into learning management systems. The concept for the conference originated during a library/IT meeting. One librarian, with support from several departments, wrote and received a $5000 COCID (Conference on Computing in the Disciplines) grant from the statewide SUNY Technology committee. This amount plus a small registration fee paid by participants covered all aspects of the conference.

Planning Team: Librarians, Instructional Designers, IT Professionals handled the:
- Development of web pages and a listserv.
- Conference materials and presenter information (housed on Brockport's LMS -- ANGEL).
- Catering and room reservations.
- Call for proposals (received more than expected).
- Conference schedule / program.
- Housing / directions.

In 2008 the College at Brockport's librarians and IT staff stirred up a successful one-day conference: "Integrating Library Services into Learning Management Systems." "Library-2-LMS" (its shortened title) was a one-day regional conference where participants learned about ways in which libraries had incorporated information, databases, tutorials, and assessment instruments into learning management systems. The concept for the conference originated during a library/IT meeting. One librarian, with support from several departments, wrote and received a $5000 COCID (Conference on Computing in the Disciplines) grant from the statewide SUNY Technology committee. This amount plus a small registration fee paid by participants covered all aspects of the conference.

Outcomes and New Collaborations
ANGEL at Brockport
- Developed a better working relationship with the ANGEL team.
- Created library-specific widgets/nuggets (building blocks).

Departmental Merger
Spring 2008:
- IT and the library collaborated in running the MISO (Merged Information Services Organizations) Survey.
Fall 2008:
- Information Technology Services moved to the ground floor of the library building (including the ANGEL team).
- 3 new computer labs were "relocated" to the library.
- Information Technology, IT, and Institutional Research were merged to create the new "LITS" (Library, Information and Technology Services) division.
- The new ETC is located on the ground floor of the library.
- Two librarians, including the new digital services librarian, have offices near the ETC.
- Librarians and IT professionals co-sponsor and teach workshops there.

Lessons Learned
1. Delegate, delegate, delegate!
2. Choose a "hot topic," one that is relevant to librarians' job duties.
3. Cap registration if space is limited.
4. Ask everyone to volunteer: You may be surprised at who offers the most help!
5. Contact keynote speakers as soon as possible.
6. Speak with people who have arranged events at your venue in the past.
7. Look for funding sources in multiple areas: vendors, local library consortiums, etc.

Contact Information
All conference and poster materials available online at the ACRL website or on the wiki:
http://librarianandesign.wikispaces.com

Jennifer Little
jlittle@brockport.edu