Happy 50th anniversaries!
Many departments, the college itself in a sense, are in their 50th year this academic year.

The college in 1965.

Recently Nicole Dumbleton of our Development Office asked the archives about the date a particular department was established. A good question, it raises a bigger story, namely the shift here 50 some years ago from being a Teachers College to a College of Arts and Science. This was a dramatic transformation that took place in the first several years of President Brown's time here. In many respects that is when the college as we know it today was established.

Not only did we go from essentially two massive departments for the two degrees offered in the Teachers College to a wide range of academic departments and degrees, but other familiar bodies started then. For example the old Faculty Student Association ended and two new bodies were set up, the Faculty Senate and the Brockport Student Government. During this same period we went from having a small group of "watchmen" to having a professional police unit.

Attached is a document that at its end gives the list of academic departments then currently established, or soon to be established, as set forth in the summer of 1966. If anyone would like to know more about when their department or unit was established please do contact the archives!

"Disability Studies: An Interdisciplinary Conversation" Conference: February 9, 2017

On Thursday, February 9, a one-day conference on Disability Studies will be held on the Brockport campus in the New York Room (Cooper Hall), 9 am – 5:30 pm. The conference will feature keynote speaker Rosemarie Garland-Thomson, who will deliver an address on bioethics, as well as presentations by seven disability studies scholars from across SUNY. Participants will learn about scholarship in disability studies — examining disability as a social, cultural, and political phenomenon experienced as a set of barriers for groups of people in society, rather than a problem or diagnosis of individual bodies — and network with SUNY presenters and participants. The conference is free and open to faculty, staff, students, and the public, and includes lunch and a closing reception.

Sponsored by: American Democracy Project, SUNY Conversations in the Disciplines Grant, Promoting Excellence in Diversity Grant, Committee on Disability and Access, Brockport Advocates for Individuals with Disabilities, Office for Students with Disabilities, Brockport Student Government, School of Education and Human Services, and the Departments of: Criminal Justice, Education Administration, Education and Human Development, Healthcare Studies, Modern Languages & Cultures, Nursing, Public Health and Health Education, Social Work, Sociology, Theatre & Music Studies, and Women & Gender Studies

Fluidity and Brittleness of Glass Highlight Faculty Exhibition

Exhibit runs from January 26 through February 26

The faculty of the Department of Art at The College at Brockport are all practicing artists who exhibit nationally and internationally. In the upcoming Faculty Exhibition, they are presenting their most recent works which encompass a variety of media, including ceramics, sculpture, drawing, painting, graphic design and mixed media. The show will run from January 26 through February 26, 2017. The gallery is located at 180 Holley Street, Brockport, and the exhibit is free and open to the public. An opening reception will take place on January 26 at 4 pm.

Jennifer Hecker, a longtime faculty member, will be exhibiting some of her works that involve glass, including “Water Fall.” Her fascination with working with glass has been going on for several years. To her, the transparency and fluidity that glass possesses “suggests water. Water is, of course, essential for life. And water has been in the news a lot lately: NASA’s discovery of water on Mars leads to speculation about the possibility of life on that planet, while the contamination of the water supply in Flint, MI, elicits shock and outrage at the callous indifference and criminal incompetence that allowed this atrocity to occur. At the end of the movie The Big Short, we learn that the real-life hedge fund manager, Dr.
Michael Burry, played by Christian Bale, is now investing in water futures. Many experts agree that we are heading toward a worldwide water crisis in the 21st century. Whoever has water will have power. But can a country or corporation or individual really ‘own’ water? It’s crazy to think about.”

Other faculty members anticipated to be included in the show include Sarah Ballard, Chris Carson, Alisia Chase, Duncan Chase, Eunsuh Choi, Mitch Christensen, Sara DiDonato, Debra Fisher, Amy Gendrou, Kitty Hubbard, Tim Massey, Lori Mills, Jim Morris, Jennifer Osborne, Kurt Treeby, and Janet Winkie.

Student Behavioral Consultant Team: Who We Are and What We Do!

The Student Behavioral Consultant Team (SBCT) is a multidisciplinary team of College employees from Academic Affairs, Hazen Center for Integrated Care (Student Health and Counseling Center), Residential Life/Learning Communities, Student Conduct, University Police, Office for Students with Disabilities, and the Enrollment Management and Student Affairs Vice President’s Office. This team meets weekly to facilitate communication of information regarding students of concern and address instances of student behavior which have raised concerns among faculty, staff and/or students at the College. This team, acting as consultants, facilitates the coordination of efforts to respond to students’ needs, based on the information gathered about the student’s behavior. SBCT is actively engaged in the early assessment and intervention process of the student of concern.

The purpose of this team is to provide a confidential means for early intervention of students of concern through collaboration with campus departments, faculty, staff and administrators. Students exhibiting behaviors that are of concern in relation to their personal, physical and emotional well-being may be referred to this team of professionals. Information from faculty, staff, administrators and students is confidentially shared among the team members.

Faculty and staff may refer a student by completing an online referral form found at: www.brockport.edu/support/student_behavioral_consultant_team/form

The referral is sent to the email account of Dr. Karen Logsdon, SBCT Chair & Case Manager, Assistant to the VP, EMSA. Dr. Logsdon may contact the faculty/staff member that referred the student to seek further information and also keep the faculty/staff member in the loop.

SBCT functions are guided by the standards of practice established by the National Behavioral Intervention Team Association (NaBITA). For more information about SBCT membership and referral procedures, refer to the SBCT webpage: www.brockport.edu/support/student_behavioral_consultant_team

SBCT hosts workshops through the Center for Excellence in Learning and Teaching (CELT) and also by request will present at departmental/divisional meetings at the College. Outreach to the campus community is an important role for this team, and since the team was formed in 2007, team members have presented on the management of disruptive students, de-escalation strategies in and out of the classroom, emergencies in the classroom, in addition to, sessions on raising awareness of the needs of veteran students.

"The Case for Wonder" is an argument for the importance of wonder in science education, an homage to Rachel Carson, and a jaundiced look at assessment. The essay is a much-extended version of a much shorter piece published in "The Chronicle of Higher Education" in 2015.

Gala Concert featuring the Amadeus Chorale & Brockport Symphony Orchestra will showcase Brockport students, alumni, faculty, and community members on-stage at Rochester's Clover Center for the Arts.
Note: Celebrating its seventh innovative season, the Brockport Symphony Orchestra is not affiliated with the Department of Theatre and Music Studies. This project is made possible with funds from the Decentralization Program, a grant program of the New York State Council on the Arts.

The Amadeus Chorale and Brockport Symphony Orchestra will join forces to present “Mozart’s Birthday Celebration” on Saturday, January 28 at 7 p.m. at The Clover Center for Arts & Spirituality, 1101 Clover Street in Rochester. Concert tickets are $10 each and can be purchased online at brockportsymphony.org and at the door. Ample free parking is available at The Clover Center, and there will be a complimentary dessert reception following the performance.

Under the direction of Brockport alumni Darla Bair and Jonathan Allentoff ’14, this gala celebration will highlight Mozart’s choral/orchestral masterpieces and showcase the talents of clarinet soloist Rachel Roessel, vocal soloists Kristin Mellema and Faith Strohm, and collaborative pianist Sally Martin.

Roessel, the orchestra’s principal clarinet and an active musician in the Greater Rochester area, will perform the “Adagio” from Mozart’s beloved “Clarinet Concerto.” Mellema, who has taught vocal music in the Victor Central School District since 2004, will appear as soloist in “Laudate Dominum” and Strohm, a senior at Spencerport High School and 2016 NYSSMA Conference All-State vocalist, will sing the “Alleluia” from “Exultate Jubilate.” Martin, who will perform on piano throughout the evening, is the music director for the Brockport United Methodist Church and also teaches music in the Holley Central School District.

A progress report on the "Little Library" project.

The Friends of Drake Library, among other projects, have one going of setting up a "little library" on campus. We reported on this some time ago, and wanted to share an update on the project.

Gordy Fox ’66, the builder of the little library, sent some photos recently of it. It is almost done, as in the photo here. It looks great, a wonderful scale model of the old Normal school complex as it looked c1870. This building was the college for many years before it was torn down and replaced with Hartwell Hall 1938-39.

In addition to the little library, Cherise Oakley and her husband are donating a granite bench, with a quote from Margaret Fuller, selected by President Macpherson from a list the group submitted to her. The actual location of these items is yet to be determined, but keep an eye out, sometime this spring they should be out on campus! If you’d be interested in taking part in the library Friends group contact Charlie Cowling, it is a great group doing a lot for the library and community.

The State University of New York University Center for Academic and Workforce Development (UCAWD) has recognized the Rochester Educational Opportunity Center (REOC) ATTAIN Lab as the 2015-2016 “Most Improved ATTAIN Lab in Overall Enrollment.”

REOC ATTAIN Lab enrollment showed a 467% increase in enrollment from the 2014-2015 academic year and an 89% increase over the target goal for the 2015-2016 academic year. Program development, attention to detail, increased recruitment effort and a restructuring of lab hours and availability led the REOC ATTAIN Lab team of Sam Casanzio and Jason Carroll to the marked success. The ATTAIN Lab has 24 computer stations where individuals from the community as well as REOC students can access the ATTAIN Lab programs and services including Microsoft® Office Specialist (MOS) Certification, Microsoft® Expert Certification, MOS training classes, Microsoft® Technology Associate (MTA) Certification, and digital literacy assistance.

There are thirty-six (36) Advanced Technology Training and Information Networking (ATTAIN) Labs across New York State that offer no-cost, self-paced occupational, academic, life skills and self-development courses in a state-of-the-art technology environment to underserved and economically challenged residents. In Rochester there is an ATTAIN Lab located at Baden Street Settlement, 13 Vienna Street and an ATTAIN Lab at the REOC, 161 Chestnut Street.

The REOC is one of ten Educational Opportunity Centers (EOC) in New York State and has been a leader in quality, tuition-free, short-term College Preparation, Career and Technical training for adults in Rochester and surrounding areas for over 45 years. REOC is sponsored, in-part, by The College at Brockport, and offers innovative quality programs to a diverse adult population. The ultimate goal of the REOC is for their graduates to obtain placement in higher education or employment.

Conveniently located at 161 Chestnut Street in downtown Rochester, the REOC offers day and evening training programs in the Health Care, Culinary Arts, Medical Secretary Training, Pharmacy Technician, Security Guard, Early Childhood, Barbering and Cosmetology fields. High School Equivalency, College Preparation and English as a Second Language courses are also available. For more information visit www.reoc.brockport.edu.

Office of the Vice President for Administration and Finance

Date: January 31, 2017

To: The College at Brockport Campus Community

From James (Beau) Willis

Re: Administrative Policy Governance

The policy environment of a college is integral to sound business practices, effective institutional decision-making, management of risk, and accountability to the public trust. The President’s Cabinet has identified the need to strengthen the College’s policy environment as a key priority. Campus policies can be difficult to access, are often vague or outdated, lack uniform format, and frequently are confused with ‘historical practice.’ The fact that our operational environment is subject to policy regulation from multiple entities – Federal, State, SUNY, SUNY Research Foundation, etc. – only compounds the challenge we each face in meeting our individual responsibilities to the College.

Last spring, President Macpherson asked me to constitute a Policy Infrastructure and Review Work Group to develop a policy governance framework for the College. The President’s Cabinet recently reviewed their progress and accepted their recommendation for a management framework to oversee campus-wide administrative policy governance and a College Policy website that will serve as the authoritative source for policy information. The Cabinet also reviewed the draft of an overarching campus ‘policy on policies,’ Campus Administrative Policy Development and Life Cycle Process, and ratified its publication for a 30-day campus review and comment period, the final stage in the development of a policy prior to formal approval by the College President. This policy establishes a standardized format, review, approval, and distribution process for College administrative policies, and directs all administrative policies to be appropriately approved and published in the web-based College at Brockport Policy Library.

To view the full text of the policy and provide comment, please go to the College Policy website
(www.brockport.edu/support/policies), where you can also access current campus policies by category, index, or searchable format, along with policy development guidelines, SUNY and RF policies, and Ethics and Compliance information. Going forward, the formulation of new administrative policies will be managed through this framework. Existing policies will be reviewed and updated on a three year cycle and migrated to the new format and Policy Library as specified by the policy for the Campus Administrative Policy Development and Life Cycle Process. This initiative is intended to provide the College community with ready access to policy information, reduce risk and confusion, drive policy consistency and compliance, and enhance campus communication about policy. All members of the College community (faculty, staff, students and visitors) are responsible for operating within the policy environment appropriate to their campus role. I encourage you to familiarize yourself with the tools available at the College Policy website and utilize it as a reference in meeting your campus responsibilities.
