National Weather Service to Declare Brockport "StormReady"
The National Weather Service will certify The College at Brockport, State University of New York, as “StormReady” during an 11:30 am ceremony on Monday, Sept. 11 in the Eagle’s Lookout Room in the Tuttle North Athletic Complex (overlooks Eunice Kennedy Shriver Stadium). Brockport is just one of 10 colleges and universities across New York State that has met a set of rigorous warning reception and dissemination criteria necessary to achieve the distinction. To be recognized as StormReady, a community must:
• Establish a 24-hour warning point and emergency operations center;
• Have more than one way to receive severe weather forecasts and warnings and to alert the public;
• Create a system that monitors local weather conditions;
• Promote the importance of public readiness through community seminars;
• Develop a formal hazardous weather plan, which includes training severe weather spotters and holding emergency exercises.
“StormReady encourages universities to take a proactive approach to improving local hazardous weather operations and public awareness,” said Judith Levan, Meteorologist in Charge at the National Weather Service Weather Forecast Office in Buffalo, N.Y. “StormReady arms universities with improved communication and safety skills needed to save lives and property—before and during the event.”
Levan says that the United States is the most severe weather prone region of the world, which makes being StormReady even more important.
“This designation is just the latest commitment The College at Brockport has made to emergency management and preparedness,” said Frederick Rion, Brockport’s Emergency Manager. “This StormReady designation is just one of many initiatives the College is working on to ensure that our community is prepared for any event or situation that may arise.”
September is Emergency Preparedness Month in the United States.

Alumni of the Department of Art Show Their Work
Trisha Koomen ’04, Christina Laurel ’09, Charity Henderson’10, and Mary Jo Whitman ’11 Are Represented

"Fracture" by Charity Henderson
Many former students of the Department of Art are prolific in maintaining an active pursuit of the visual arts in their lives. The department is honored to present a sampling of works by alumni who have developed an extensive record of artistic activity over several years. The Department of Art Alumni Exhibition will be on display at the Tower Fine Arts Center Gallery at The College at Brockport from through October 13, 2017. The gallery is located at 180 Holley Street, Brockport, and the exhibit is free and open to the public.
Aside from being an artist, Trisha Koomen is also a registered nurse and is more than thrilled to be part of this exhibit during this milestone season. She recalled that “in 1998 I was so happy when Jennifer Hecker, the then chair of the art department at Brockport, accepted me into her sculpture class! At the time, my husband and I were raising our four children and I worked part-time as a nurse. I can’t say it’s been easy or a straight path, but being a visual, conceptual artist is—I’ve come to realize—the closest I come to being myself. Being invited back here to exhibit my work feels like coming home in a way and a wonderful dose of encouragement. It’s simply amazing and I’m very grateful!” Most fittingly, Koomen’s sculpture, Vessel, constructed with glass medical vials, has been permanently installed in the lobby of Lathrop Hall on the Brockport campus, home to the Department of Nursing.

Christina Laurel arrived on campus as a non-traditional student, wielding a portfolio, “an exhibition resumé, and an established style. Or so I thought.” Under the gentle guidance of the Department of Art faculty, some of whom were younger than she, Laurel was pushed out of her comfort zone “into a world of seemingly endless possibilities… Now, it is with deep pleasure that my artwork will be on view. Graduating with my BS in studio art in 2009 was a milestone in my life. Exhibiting at my alma mater during the 50th anniversary of the Tower building and of the Department of Art is an honor.” Laurel currently resides in Liberty, SC. She has participated in a variety of artist residencies including Virginia Center for the Arts and at Paducah (KY) Arts. Her mission is “to create an ‘exhale’ moment; an oasis that offers a respite and refuge from our daily sensory overload.”

Aside from her undergraduate work at Brockport, Charity Henderson has also studied painting in France and Italy. She also received her MFA in painting at the University of Massachusetts-Dartmouth. She has consistently maintained a focus on the figure, particularly portraits. Her current body of work utilizes a process of layering, involving alternating sheets of translucent and opaque drawing surfaces. She has shown her work in New York City; Boston; Washington, DC; and throughout the United States. Henderson is an active member of the Salmagundi Club, the renowned artists’ club based in NYC.

Mary Jo Whitman is a freelance artist, who serves as the director of the Roz Steiner Gallery at Geneseo Community College. She is also a member of the Board of Directors for GO Art!, the Genesee-Orleans Regional Arts Council. She has also participated in juried competitions, group exhibitions, and student shows. She also teaches students at her own art and photography studio when she is not working on commissioned pieces, such as murals, paintings, and graphic design.
WMS Students publish sixth volume of Dissenting Voices eJournal
Dissenting Voices is a faculty-reviewed eJournal featuring the capstone projects of Women and Gender Studies Senior Seminar students.

Cover Image, Dissenting Voices v6
The Women and Gender Studies (WMS) Program is proud to announce publication of the sixth volume of Dissenting Voices (DV), a faculty-reviewed journal featuring the capstone projects of Women and Gender Studies Senior Seminar students. Dissenting Voices volume six is the largest volume to date, representing ten authors who write across a wide span of topics important to the Women and Gender Studies discipline. Readers are invited to discover how WMS student authors carry out their commitment to inclusive community building and feminist activism boldly envisioned and initiated by the founders of Dissenting Voices.

Volume six can be accessed via the link displayed below. Editor-in-Chief Barbara LeSavoy envisioned Dissenting Voices as a women and gender studies publication that would bring to light undergraduate creative agency realized on the cusp of feminist knowledge. Her senior seminar undergraduates continue to be inspired by that vision. DV6 features a unique cover portrait that is a photographic composite of one identity characteristic of each person in the WMS 421 Senior Seminar course. The abstract painting of vivid colors that frames the portrait represents the brilliant minds that have intertwined to create this volume. The use of different colors represents each student's diverse background, that when put together, becomes radiant. The hand print placed on the chest represents their extension to others and prompts readers to join the WMS students in the fight for social justice. The journal's back cover displays images of knuckles with the word “feminist” written in calligraphy, positioned to leave readers with something other than a blank ending. This photographic composite is meant to create a new face of dissent. The cover design is by Mel Brown, WMS ’18. Calligraphy is by Sara Connor, SOC, WMS ’16.

WMS graduate Maggie Rosen was the Copy Editor for this volume, contributing over 100 hours to ensure each article met APA format. Managing Editor Pat Maxwell guided implementation and publication. Editorial Board members are Tristan S. Bridges, Barbara Mitrano, and Milo Obourn.

Digital Commons @Brockport is an online collection of scholarly and creative works produced by the faculty, staff, and students of The College at Brockport. This digital repository is a service of Drake Memorial Library and Library, Information, & Technology Services.

Cesar R. Torres, KSSPE, Receives the 2016-2017 Warren P. Fraleigh Distinguished Scholar Award from the International Association for the Philosophy of Sport (IAPS). Cesar R. Torres, Professor of KSSPE, received the 2016-2017 Warren P. Fraleigh Distinguished Scholar Award from the International Association for the Philosophy of Sport (IAPS) at its 45th annual conference held on September 6-9 in Whistler, British Columbia, Canada. This award is granted in recognition of the recipient’s eminent contributions to the sport philosophy literature. As part of the award, Prof. Torres delivered the Warren P. Fraleigh Distinguished Scholar Lecture at the conference in Whistler. The lecture is named after an emeritus professor of The College at Brockport who served, among other positions, as Dean of the Faculty of Physical Education and Recreation. Fraleigh, a leading sport philosopher, was instrumental in the formation of IAPS in the early 1970s and served twice as its president.

Associate Professor and Interim Chair of Dance James Hansen will be presenting Merged 5 with Heather Roffe (associate professor and director of dance at Nazareth College) at Geva Theatre Center as part of Rochester Fringe Festival from September 20-23. This year's dances range from thoughtful to humorous and include music by Elvis Presley and Olivia Newton-John and a set design by celebrated sculptor Olivia Kim. City Newspaper wrote of MERGED 2013: It "seemed new and fresh, yet it was still accessible and, at times, even poignant;" "I was flat out amazed," and "I was captivated by...some very exciting dancing." In 2014, it wrote, “I was moved nearly to tears” and “It was a work of art in motion.”

Shows are 9/20 at 7:30 pm, 9/21 at 6 pm, 9/22 at 7 pm, and 9/23 at 1 pm. All tickets are $10 and can be purchased an hour before the show at GEVA box office or online at the link below. This has regularly sold out, so get your tickets early!

“Life Is a Dream” / “Mee & She” from works by Charles Mee

Thursday, 9/21 at 7:30 & Saturday, 9/23 at 2:30

Fielding Stage, Geva Theatre Center

TICKETS: rochesterfringe.com/tickets or 585-957-5837

Admission: $10 / Students: $5

- recommended for mature audiences -

TWO OF MEE

Performances are on Geva Theatre Center's Fielding Stage, 7:30 pm on Thursday, September 21, and 2:30 pm on Saturday, September 23.

TWO OF MEE is composed of two pieces developed from texts by playwright Charles Mee. “Life Is a Dream” with Nanako Horikawa and Andrea Vazquez, and music composed and performed by James J. Kaufmann, responds to the paradox of our capacity for both rapturous love and devastating destruction. “Mee and She” is a pastiche of women’s monologues from Mee’s works, shared by performers Lynea D’Aprix and Olivia Howard, about the urge to mate for life, and particularly male delusions in that regard.

Tantalizing stories one runs across in the Stylus...

While looking through the Stylus in preparation to meet the Class of '67 this fall when they have their 50th anniversary, I ran across something of the sort that I often see, little stories, brief mentions of a person or event that can be so intriguing, and one wishes one could know more about it.

The story I saw is attached. It is a piece on an exchange student from the then Republic of South Vietnam. He sounds like an intelligent, interesting person, and one wonders what happened to him on his return to South Vietnam, a country on the verge of being torn apart by a years of increasingly widespread war, and ultimate victory by North Vietnam. What did he do during those years...? Did he somehow survive...?

Jonathan Allentoff ’14 recently appeared as one of the conducting clinicians at the 2017 New York State School Music Association/New York American String Teachers Association Summer Conference in Albany, NY.

Allentoff Conducting the Conference Orchestra

Jonathan Allentoff ’14 was honored to be invited to serve as a conducting clinician at the 2017 New York State School Music Association/New York American String Teachers Association Summer Conference held at the Hilton Albany….

In addition to conducting, Allentoff was honored to perform as principal viola in the Directors’ Orchestra Concert under the direction of internationally-acclaimed composer Soon Hee Newbold. This well-attended gala concert was held that evening in the Governor's Ballroom. Besides conducting and performing, he also participated in discussion forums regarding the future direction of higher education and the latest techniques for providing quality musical instruction to performers of all ages.

This conference marked the fifth year that Allentoff performed in the Directors’ Orchestra, led the viola section in workshops and performances, and participated in the exciting discussion forums. He was delighted to be part of a conference that focused on innovation, creativity, inclusion, diversity, and musical and artistic excellence, and Allentoff is looking forward to sharing his new insights with the students, alumni, faculty, and community members of the Brockport Symphony Orchestra.

Allentoff is excited to return to Albany with the entire Brockport Symphony Orchestra on Saturday, October 7, when the orchestra will be performing their "Erie Canal Bicentennial" Concert at 3 pm at the Empire State Plaza's Clark Auditorium. This command performance at the New York State Museum, along with the Rochester performance on Thursday, September 28, at 7:30 pm at the Rochester Museum & Science Center's Eisenhart Auditorium, are made possible with funds from the Decentralization Program, a regrant program of the New York State Council on the Arts with the support of Governor Andrew Cuomo and the New York State Legislature and administered by the Genesee Valley Council on the Arts at the Livingston Arts Center, a member supported organization.

Student Teaching Candidates and Faculty from the Department of Education and Human Development participated in the 2018 New York Teacher of the Year Reception

Student teaching candidates and faculty members from the Department of Education and Human Development participated in the 2018 New York Teacher of the Year Reception to celebrate Mr. Christopher Albrecht’s award.
Five student teaching candidates in the Childhood Inclusive Education Program, Brittny Emery, Elizabeth Gagne, Katie Porter, Sarah Hannan, and Silvia Wharram, and two faculty members from the Department of Education and Human Development, Drs. Janka Szilagyi and Jie Zhang, participated in the 2018 New York Teacher of the Year Reception hosted by Brockport Central School District (BCSD) on September 19, 2017. They joined students, parents and families, teachers, administrators, Board of Education members from BCSD, and other guests to celebrate Mr. Christopher Albrecht’s award.

The participation in this event provided student teaching candidates a great opportunity to network, connect with families, learn from a compassionate experienced educator, and help strengthen the partnership between the College and the Brockport community.

Institute for Poverty Studies and Economic Development Executive Committee

The Institute for Poverty Studies and Economic Development is looking for members to join its executive committee. The Institute for Poverty Studies and Economic Development’s mission is to better equip College at Brockport faculty, staff, and students to understand sources of poverty and, in doing so, be able to contribute to poverty alleviation in their communities. We are looking for a few more members to join our executive committee. Please contact Celia Watt (below) if this sounds like a committee you would like to join.

Celebrating McNair Students' Research Accomplishments
23rd Annual Undergraduate Research Conference

Presenter - Denise Torres
The McNair program was pleased to have 21 scholars attend the University at Buffalo’s 23rd annual Undergraduate Research Conference, held July 27 – 29, 2017, in Niagara Falls, NY. The conference provided an opportunity for students to engage other McNair scholars from across the country; attend student-led workshops, and enjoy esteemed keynote speakers David Stovall, PhD, from the University of Illinois and Gloria Ladson-Billings, PhD, from the University of Wisconsin. Their participation at the conference reflects the pinnacle of earlier work and continued opportunities to display, share, and celebrate their research efforts. The diversity of oral and poster presentations illustrate our scholars' commitment to their research and the guidance and support provided by their mentors. Way to go, McNair Scholars!

Call for Projects: Canal Lab
Below CFP provides criteria for Erie Canal-related project proposals to be supported by the Erie Canal Interdisciplinary Research Lab.

Call for Projects: What is the Consequence of the Erie Canal?

The Canal Lab seeks project proposals that address the following criteria:

1) Faculty-student research related in some way to the Erie Canal

2) Involves student research either through course-connected activity, credit-bearing internship, or Directed Study

3) Can be completed in the 2017-18 academic year or can be introduced in 2018-19

4) Result in a completed object that can be published, presented, or displayed and represented in some way on the Canal Lab site of the Brockport Digital Commons

Proposals are welcome from any field or combination of fields. Preference will be given to interdisciplinary research projects. We are eager to consider proposals that address economic, environmental, cultural, demographic, geographic, social class, built environment, technology, agriculture, family, artistic, musical, etc. topics related to any time in the Erie Canal’s history or any part of its pathway from Lake Erie to the Hudson River.
A well-formatted proposal will include:

1) A project name and description (200 words)

2) Names and department(s) of sponsor(s)

3) A description of its integration into a course or the curriculum more generally (100 words)

4) The roles of faculty and students in the project (150 words)

5) A budget (including required and optional budget items)

6) A timeline for implementation

7) A description of the completed object and a plan for its publication, presentation, or display
