Brockport Physics Student Presents Research at NY American Physical Society Meeting

Mayuka Sasaki, a senior physics major, recently presented the results of her summer research at the fall meeting of the New York State section of the American Physical Society.

Mayuka's poster was titled "Development and Automation of an Ultra-High Vacuum System for Synthesis of 2-Dimensional Materials", and resulted from a research project she did with Dr. Zachary Robinson in the Department of Physics. Mayuka has continued her research as part of the department's yearlong Senior Seminar course, in which students do a research project alongside a faculty member. Mayuka's work was funded by the Richard V. Mancuso Undergraduate Research Award for the Summer of 2017. A picture of her poster can be found on the Brockport Physics twitter feed:

Barb LeSavoy, Co-editor, with Pat Maxwell, Managing Editor, Publish Volume 2 of The Seneca Falls Dialogues Journal

The Seneca Falls Dialogues Journal is a multidisciplinary, peer-reviewed journal that is collaboratively published by WMS affiliates at area colleges.

The Seneca Falls Dialogues Journal Cover Art

Women and Gender Studies, with Library, Information, & Technology Services, is thrilled to announce publication of Volume 2 of The Seneca Falls Dialogues Journal, a multidisciplinary, peer reviewed, online journal collaboratively published by Women and Gender Studies affiliates at Hobart and William Smith Colleges, Monroe Community College, St. John Fisher College, The College at Brockport, University of Rochester, and The Women’s Institute for Leadership and Learning.

The Seneca Falls Dialogues Journal grows out of the Biennial Seneca Falls Dialogues (SFD), a conference collaboratively launched in October 2008 to celebrate the 160th anniversary of the first women’s rights convention held in Seneca Falls, New York and the 60th anniversary of Eleanor Roosevelt’s Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

Co-editors of Volume 2, Dr. Deborah Uman, Professor and Chair, Department of English at St. John Fisher College, and Dr. Barb LeSavoy, Women and Gender Studies Director at The College at Brockport, are excited to introduce Volume 2 as thematically linked to the 2016 Biennial SFD conference theme, "Lean Out: Gender, Economics and Enterprise," and which features several Brockport WMS students and alumni and a mix of Brockport faculty as authors.

Managing Editor Pat Maxwell, Library, Information & Technology Services at Brockport, meticulously guided Volume 2 in journal layout and design, featuring cover art from photographer and Upstate Girls founder Brenda Ann Kenneally, who was the 2016 Biennial SFD keynote.

Journal Editorial Board Members and Founders are:

Betty Bayer, PhD, Hobart and William Smith Colleges

Maria Brandt, PhD, Monroe Community College

Angela Clark-Taylor, PhD, University of Redlands

Barbara LeSavoy, PhD, The College at Brockport

Tuesday Obourn, BA, The College at Brockport

Jill Swiencicki, PhD, St. John Fisher College

Deborah Uman, PhD, St. John Fisher College

Additional Editorial Contributors:

Lisa Cunningham, PhD, St. John Fisher College

Elizabeth Johnston, PhD, Monroe Community College

Tanya Bakhmetyeva, PhD, University of Rochester

The 2018 Biennial SFD will be held October 19-21, 2018, in historic Seneca Falls, themed,

“Race and Intersecting Feminist Futures.” Keynote is KaeLyn Rich, Assistant Advocacy

Director for Chapters of the New York Civil Liberties Union (NYCLU), and featured in the Her Voice Carries project at the Rochester Memorial Art Gallery (MAG). See the 2018 Call for Dialogues at the SFD website linked below.

College project wins funding in NYS Regional Economic Development Councils competition

It was announced yesterday (Dec 13) in Albany that the College has been awarded funding ($57,000) to construct a new multi-use trail along the south side of the Erie Canal from Commissary Park to the west edge of the Tower Fine Arts Center.

Creating a more attractive, pedestrian friendly connection between the College, the Village of Brockport, and the Town of Sweden, this trail will be accessible to people with mobility impairments and the overall project offers new avenues for student/ faculty to engage more deeply with the surrounding community.

This project complements the Erie Canal Interdisciplinary Research Laboratory established by Professors Greg Garvey and Joe Torre earlier this year through funding from the Investment Fund for the Future. Taking advantage of The College at Brockport's location on the banks of the canal, and adopting the laboratory model of faculty/student research as a starting point, the canal lab provides a platform for research projects focused on the canal. Lab research projects engage as many aspects of our College and of communities along the canal as our participants choose to pursue.

The canal has always been a part of the life of the College. References to the Erie Canal can be found in early Stylus articles:

9/23/1931: "To stand on the canal bridge and watch the rippling waves in the stream below is a pleasant pastime..."

11/15/1945: Rosa Sands finds inspiration... "The other day I took a brief walk, and found myself strolling along the Erie Canal. It was a nice windy afternoon, and as I sat on the stone wall along its banks, I seemed to be hearing a voice. Was it the waves striking against the wall or...?"

3/14/1952, editorial: "How can a dreary lesson on the 'History of Education in the Elementary Schools' be expected to compete with the alluring wiles of the local pub by the canal?"

Addressing our canal frontage has long been in the recesses of our planning for the physical development of the College. In 1990 a campus group charged by then Vice President of Administration and Finance Kumar “to solicit ideas to ways in which the Campus can capitalize on its location along the banks of the scenic Barge Canal... to draw the canal closer, to accentuate its presence, or include it in activities of the college”. Among their recommendations were the development of walkways along the canal to tie Commissary Park to Tower Fine Arts. Twenty-seven years later, in early 2017, the Vice President of Administration and Finance, Beau Willis, convened a focus group of campus faculty and staff to revisit the findings of the 1990 study. It was their work that led to the development of the grant proposal

Construction of the canal path by our Facilities and Planning team should commence this summer.
