School of Business & Management Interim Dean Announced

Provost Katy Heyning Announces Selection of Interim Dean for the School of Business and Management

Dear colleagues-

I’m pleased to announce that Dr. Susan Stites-Doe will be assuming the duties of Interim Dean of the School of Business and Management beginning August 9. She will succeed Dr. Joyendu Bhadury who has assumed a new position at Radford University in Virginia.

Joining the College at Brockport in 1994, Susan offers a wealth of experience and knowledge that will amplify the many successes and build upon the new projects currently underway in the School.

Susan wanted to share the following statement: “I am honored to be appointed as Interim Dean of the School of Business and Management. This will prove to be an exciting year as we roll out and build degree programs, including the long awaited new MBA program, and continue to develop community leaders across the region with our well-known Public Administration degree programs and certificates. I am committed to continuing the tradition of an open and inclusive culture, and look forward to working with my colleagues in pursuit of our collective vision for the future.”

I wish to thank the search committee for their time and valuable input into the process. A national search for a permanent Dean will begin early in the fall 2018 semester.

New file in FileCity2 to provide read only access for all faculty and staff to all College Senate Approved Resolutions
In the effort to have greater communication and transparency, a new file has been created to access the College Senate Approved Resolutions. IT has created a new file city 2 folder in a "read only" file for all faculty and staff. This folder is called: College_Senate_Approved_Resolutions and has all resolutions dating back to 1967. You will need to map your computer to this folder.
Help digitize history!
Preserve the treasure trove of Writers Forum author interviews by sponsoring the digitization of one or more sessions.

Support the important and urgent mission of digitizing the videos of Writers Forum authors who’ve graced the Brockport campus over the past 50 years.

Interviews prior to 2006 — about 360 of them — are all in outmoded forms of storage. Our goal is to restore them as quickly as possible, beginning with the oldest and/or most fragile, in order to provide everyone everywhere indefinite access to our renowned visiting author series through the Drake Library Digital Commons.

Thank you for helping to preserve our history!

Save the Date: Academic Success Center and Eagle Hall Ribbon Cuttings Thursday, Aug. 30 starting at 10 am

Join us to celebrate the opening of two key facilities as we Build a Better Brockport

The Academic Success Center and Eagle Hall will formally open following back-to-back ribbon cutting ceremonies on Thursday, Aug. 30.

The ceremony for the Academic Success Center, which brings key student services such as academic advisement, tutoring, student accessibility services and numerous retention efforts under one roof, will take place at 10 am on the south patio of the Albert Brown Building. Tours of the facility will follow formal remarks.

The ceremony for Eagle Hall, our newest 264-bed residence hall that features hotel-style room layouts, quiet study lounges, keyless door entry and more, will take place at 11 am on the hall’s patio. Tours of the facility will follow formal remarks.

A reception celebrating the opening of both facilities take place at Eagle Hall following the completion of the final ribbon cutting ceremony.

Please join us to help celebrate these outstanding new facilities and help thank those who helped make them possible.

Brockport’s other archives

A gem from a private archive of College materials.
Blanche Southcombe March in 1929

The archivist recently visited with Jeanette Banker '53, who is both an alum and an emerita (Campus School and Education). She has been a wonderful advocate of the College for many years, and her long association with the school has allowed her to build quite an archives of her own. She gave some things today to be added to our archival collections, great materials, including the speech attached here which we had not seen before.

The materials mostly related to her friend Blanche Southcombe March. Blanche was a 1929 graduate of the old Normal School. She was one of those folks in the early 20th century who went to the Brockport high school when it was housed within our campus school, or “training school,” as it was called then. Afterwards she continued on at Brockport for her Normal School education to become a teacher.

Her father was a farmer on Redman Rd., and after finishing Brockport she was a teacher in the Hilton schools for many years. Like Jeanette Banker, she was a generous and active supporter of this school, and in 1993 she was recognized at a banquet in her honor, which is where she gave the speech attached.

Student Behavioral Consultant Team: Who We Are and What We Do!

The Student Behavioral Consultant Team (SBCT) is a multidisciplinary team of College employees that meet weekly to review and address faculty and staff reports on students of concern.

The Student Behavioral Consultant Team (SBCT) is a multidisciplinary team of College employees from Academic Affairs, Hazen Center for Integrated Care (Student Health and Counseling Center), Residential Life/Learning Communities, Student Conduct, University Police, the Student Accessibility Services, Athletics, and the Enrollment Management and Student Affairs Vice President’s Office. This team meets weekly to facilitate communication of information regarding students of concern and address instances of student behavior which have raised concerns among faculty, staff and/or students at the College. This team, acting as consultants, facilitates the coordination of efforts to respond to students’ needs, based on the information gathered about the student’s behavior. SBCT is actively engaged in the early assessment and intervention process of the student of concern.

The purpose of this team is to provide a confidential means for early intervention of students of concern through collaboration with campus departments, faculty, staff and administrators. Students exhibiting behaviors that are of concern in relation to their personal, physical and emotional well-being may be referred to this team of professionals. Information from faculty, staff, administrators and students is confidentially shared among the team members.

Faculty and staff may refer a student by completing an online referral form, found at the link below.

The referral is sent to the email account of Dr. Karen Logsdon, SBCT Chair & Case Manager, Assistant to the VP, EMSA. Dr. Logsdon may contact the faculty/staff member that referred the student to seek further information and also will keep the faculty/staff member informed.

SBCT functions are guided by the standards of practice established by the National Behavioral Intervention Team Association (NaBITA). For more information about SBCT membership and referral procedures, refer to the SBCT webpage, linked below.

SBCT hosts workshops through the Center for Excellence in Learning and Teaching (CELT) and also, by request, will present at departmental/divisional meetings at the College. Outreach to the campus community is an important role for this team, and since the team was formed in 2007, team members have presented on the management of disruptive students, de-escalation strategies in and out of the classroom, emergencies in the classroom, in addition to sessions on raising awareness of the needs of veteran students.

Newman Club

Some history of this long running club...

Newman Club, 1948

Some readers may know, or have heard, that the Newman Center adjacent to campus is closing. This center opened in 1963 and has been the home of the college Newman Club for Catholic students ever since. Times change however, and now the Newman group will be based in the Nativity BVM parish on Main Street. The club will still continue though to play its part in campus life as it has since it was started in 1940.
It is an interesting story, and one captured in loving detail in John Kutowlowski’s book on the subject which is accessible in our Digital Commons via the above link. In brief, the ethnic and religious mix of western NY where we historically have drawn our students changed substantially in the early 20th century to include increasing numbers of Catholics. (In the early, handwritten registration books held in the archives for c1866-1890s one column noted student "religious persuasion" and Roman Catholic is rarely listed.)

Two faculty, Josephine Mannix and Clara Stratemeyer, guided a group of students as they established the Newman club in 1940. Francis Claffey was co-faculty advisor with Mannix in the early years after Stretemeyer left Brockport. In the post WWII years one sees the rise of religious clubs on college campuses. Brockport was no exception and after the Newman club came a Student Christian Fellowship, the Canturbury Club, Wesley Fellowship and so on. Many of these clubs are long gone, but the Newman Club has survived and we wish it the best in the years to come.

SUMMER 2018 CONSTRUCTION ACTIVITY UPDATE

By John Osowski, PE (Director of Facilities Planning and Construction)

Significant progress continues on efforts to Build a Better Brockport by improving our quality of place and striving to make our campus a great place at which to learn, to live, to work, and to play.

Renovations to the A.W. Brown Building and completion of our new Academic Success Center are complete. Academic departments who were displaced during construction have returned (Social Work, Criminal Justice, Sociology, Computing Science, Mathematics, and Professional Education). The Honors College, an expanded GRACE computer lab, and a new student lounge are located at Brown. A new home for the School of Education, Health, and Human Services was created. Two new universal accessible entrances to the building were created. The new, unified Academic Success Center now includes the key functions of Advisement, Retention, Tutoring, Student Accessibility Services, Student Success Workshops, and Military Engagement and Support. In addition to construction of the ASC, building improvements include new windows and window treatments, new room finishes including ceilings, lights, doors, flooring, and painting, and life safety improvements including new fire protection sprinklers.

Eagle Hall, our new 263 bed residence hall located between the Allen Administration Building and our Townhome apartments, welcomes its first student residents. This hotel style building (two residents in a room share a bathroom) is our first of this type and our first new residence hall in 12 years. Thanks to its accelerated construction delivery, this new building started construction in May 2017 and was ready just 16 months later.

Renovations to the fifth floor of our downtown Rochester REOC building were completed this summer, allowing the relocation of all our former MetroCenter located graduate school faculty, staff, and programs to the new location. Our downtown campus is now co-located with REOC at 161 Chestnut Street in Rochester.

The Stair Improvements Project Phase 2 reactivated after Commencement in May. The new universal accessible ramp at the west side of Rakov is now complete and open. Permanent repairs to the exit stairs at the north exit from Hartwell Hall were also completed. Work will continue into the fall at the north and east sides of Tower Fine Arts, and at the south exit from Hartwell Hall.

Significant masonry repairs were completed this summer at our Perry and Bramley high-rise residence halls. Water infiltration damage was repaired and deteriorated mortar joints were removed and replaced. Briggs Hall will be repaired similarly in summer 2019. This work will significantly extend the life of these residence halls.

Following on the refurbishment of the suite bathrooms at floors 2 through 7 at Mortimer Hall last summer, the bathrooms at floors 8 through 12 were refurbished this summer. Work included asbestos abatement, coating of shower walls, ceiling and floor, coating of bathroom walls and floor, and replacement of the countertop and sink with new components.

Bathrooms were modernized and upgraded at McLean residence hall. A major improvement to the bathrooms at the center core of the building across all three floors included converting the group style shower and toilet rooms to individual private bathrooms. The bathrooms at the other wings of the building were refinished and improved with the addition of an exhaust system and upgraded finishes.

Completion of the project to replace all bleachers at athletic venues in Tuttle North continued this summer. Enhanced bleachers at the gymnastics center were installed last summer, and bleachers at the Vigionitis basketball court were replaced this summer. Work is finishing up to provide new team changing rooms and storage rooms at the ice arena and install new bleachers on top of the new structures. Similar work is also being finished soon at the natatorium.

Other short term projects accomplished or in progress this summer included:

• Hartwell Hall – refurbished room 107 as new, enhanced home for the Bloomberg business lab; re-oriented room layout and upgraded technology at room 103/105 for School of Business and Management computer teaching lab.

• Rugby fields – completed installation of new goal posts for relocated competition field.

• Disc golf – installed targets (baskets) and tees for new 9 hole recreational disc golf course near west entrance of campus at end of New Campus Drive.

• Welcome Center – started project to complete interior demolitions and restore interior of facility after flood last winter, completion this fall.

• Townhomes – replaced front doors at remainder of apartments

• Drake Memorial Library / Allen Administration Building – replaced refrigeration chillers that supplied chilled water for air conditioning system, restoring conditioned air to both buildings that were without a/c until late June.

• Tuttle South – replaced lockers at football locker room, upgraded finishes.

• Campus sidewalks – initiated campus program to repair/replace deteriorated sidewalks.

• Harrison Dining Hall – replaced steam boiler for cooking and dishwashing operations.

Construction contracts were issued for the major projects to replace the exterior façade of Allen Administration Building, and to replace our emergency generators for Hartwell, Seymour, Chapman, Commissary, Rakov, Cooper, Brown, Edwards, Holmes, Hazen, and Dailey. The Allen project has started with temporary, protective facilities in place and work progressing on exterior structure and brick repairs. Occupants of floors 7, 6, and 5 will be temporarily relocated to other locations on campus starting in September to accommodate replacement of windows in the first phase of this multiple phase project replacing all the windows at all the floors. The emergency generator project will replace many aging and undersized diesel engine generators with natural gas, and will upgrade the systems and upsize the engines for more robust emergency power systems in the listed buildings.

We are excited about the continued facilities improvements that we are making across campus, and apologize for the disruptions and inconveniences caused by the construction work. Please be patient while we are “Building a Better Brockport,” enhancing our facilities, making them safer, and more accessible, livable, sustainable and efficient. Please contact Facilities and Planning at x2408 or email construction@brockport.edu with any questions or concerns.

How we think and learn

As the first college to offer an undergraduate degree program in computational science, Brockport continues to make an impact in the field by introducing computational pedagogy to the literature and offering a new perspective on computational thinking.

The essence of computational thinking

The idea of adding computational thinking (CT) to a child’s analytical ability goes back almost four decades, yet its promotion as an “attitude and skill set” for everyone is rather recent. While periodic reviews on the status of CT education indicate wide agreement on what comprises CT, there is a struggle in the field by teachers and educators on how to integrate CT practices and skills into K–12 education. Some of the remaining trouble spots include definition, methods of measurement, cognitive aspects, and universal value of CT. An article by Brockport faculty presents a new perspective on computational thinking (Communications of the ACM, July 2018, 61(7), 34-39), positioning CT as a link to cognitive competencies involved not only in science and engineering but also in everyday life. The content of the article could be of interest to any reader as it addresses how humans think and learn using a simple language and a common terminology. Interested readers can request a copy of the article from its author, Dr. Osman Yasar (oyasar@brockport.edu). A PDF copy is attached to this news item.
