ON THE MOVE
Zitha speaks against apartheid

On September 26 SUNY Brockport's Tuesday Night Live opened up the academic year with a guest speaker from South Africa.

The scheduled speaker, Mpho Tutu, youngest daughter of the Archbishop Desmond Tutu was unable to appear due to sudden illness. The replacement speaker, Thamsanqa (meaning Lucky) Zitha delivered a message, "My hope for South Africa."

The panel consisted of Joe Franek, Director of Residential Life; Rev. Joel Toliver, Director of Minority Affairs and Dr. Felix Okoye, Professor of Afro-American studies. The speaker was introduced by Dr. John McCray, Vice President for Student Affairs at SUNY Brockport.

Zitha, a member of the Xhosa tribe, which is the second largest in South Africa, was born in Johannesberg on Dec. 12, 1958. He is married and the father of two children.

After traveling from Soweto to Tanzania to Kenya over a four year period, he was reunited with his family in his homeland.

Zitha's name appeared on a list with the government considered as threats to the structure. In 1986, he was abducted and placed in solitary confinement where he was constantly tortured and beaten. He was eventually sent to live with his parents, where he was placed under house arrest, only allowed to go outdoors when escorted by police.

Zitha said he hopes for a democratic South Africa with a nonracial government.

Zitha is currently studying at City College in New York City. He has been in exile since 1977 and still has family in Johannesberg.

The system of apartheid was established on the basis of colonial conquest when white settlers from the Netherlands arrived in the extreme southwest of what is now South Africa during the 17th century. The term apartheid was coined when the National Party came to power in 1948.

A basic aspect of apartheid is separate and unequal developments and the exclusion of the majority from participation in central government on the basis of color.
The New York State Games for the Physically Challenged has its roots in the 1984 International Games for the disabled (now known as the Paralympics). Governor and Mrs. Cuomo served as the Grand Marshals for the International Games hosted by Nassau County. The adult athletes at the event were so impressive, the Governor sought to initiate a similar program for our State's physically challenged youngsters funded under New York State Office of Parks, Recreation and Historic Preservation.

In August 1985, the New York State Games for the Physically Challenged was born, offering a free program of competition in track, field, skiing, snowboarding, and table tennis for junior athletes, 5-21 years old who are blind, deaf, spinal cord injured, amputees, have Cerebral Palsy and other physical disabilities (e.g., Muscular Dystrophy, dwarfism, arthritis, etc.).

The program is designed for success and each athlete competes in his or her own age group, physical challenge, and degree of ability. Gold, silver, and bronze medals are awarded for the top scores. Everyone is a winner and leaves with a badge for having participated.

The aim of the program is to provide a means to develop confidence through success, and a positive self image. The program also offers many demonstration sports and games of pure fun. Clowns are everywhere spreading laughter, and music fills the air. Celebrities award medals. Spectators can truly enjoy the athletes and a wonderful time is had by all.

The first games in August 1985 had 240 athletes competing. With the interest shown and the number of competitors growing, the number of competitors grew to almost 700 in 1988. One thousand three hundred athletes competed on Long Island in 1988. Approximately 2,500 competitors, combining Long Island, SUNY Brockport and Amsterdam will compete in 1989.

Fitness workshops are offered throughout the State. New York is the first and only State in the Nation to have a program of fitness and competition for the physically challenged youngsters. Our athletes come from all over the State. For the second year, we will host a team of physically challenged athletes from Ireland.

The New York State Games for the Physically Challenged can be a training ground for athletes to go on to adult competition, on a national level if they choose. Many other states are beginning to see the need for athletic programs for the physically challenged.

Hopefully, the near-future will see a development of sports competition spurred on by example set by Governor Mario Cuomo and New York State.

Brockport vs. Canisius

The SUNY Brockport football team rallied for 21 points in the fourth quarter, but their comeback fell short as they were downed, 26-21, by the Canisius College Golden Griffins at the Homecoming game.

Nearly 3000 spectators, the largest crowd to watch a SUNY Brockport football game since 1980, saw the Golden Eagles explode in the last quarter with three touchdowns. Unfortunately though it just wasn't enough.
Parents and students enjoyed an evening listening to REPORTER, gambling, and munching at Rock, Roll'n Munch sponsored by the Brockport Student Alumni Association. Items from the bookstore were auctioned off for chips won at the Casino tables.

Greeks 97
On January 15, 1908, Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Incorporated, was founded to be the first Greek lettered women sorority. The ladies in the organization possess high moral and ethical standards, with these common goals in mind, over 100,000 women unite in a "Sisterhood" bond.

ZETA PHI BETA
On November 26, 1913, ten women at Hunter College, New York, founded our interfraternity. These women had different financial, religious, and family histories, not one sorority could or would accept all of them. Therefore, these women decided to create their own sorority. The founders of Phi Sigma Sigma felt that individuals should define the sorority, rather than the sorority defining the individuals. On January 31, 1987 the Delta Sigma chapter of Phi Sigma Sigma was established at SUNY Brockport.

A LOOK BACK

To the right is a copy of the cover of the announcement for the commencement ceremony for the Class of 1940. This marked the seventy-third annual commencement for the school. BELOW RIGHT: Helen Thompson, class of 1940, worked on the Stylus and SAGA while at Brockport. She went on to become a teacher after graduation. BELOW: Graduates from the Class of 1940 stand outside the newly constructed Hartwell. To the right is the old Brockport State Normal School building that was made of sandstone. This building was torn down shortly after this photo was taken and Hartwell was completed.

A new decade. The 1990's are here and we anxiously look forward to what changes they will bring. Before we get too caught up in the 90's, maybe we should look back so we can better appreciate these times. Life here at SUNY Brockport in 1990 is very different from life at Brockport State Normal School in 1940.

In 1940 the Brockport State Normal School was a three year teachers' college. The senior class of 73 students, along with the other students and faculty were excited about the construction of a new building costing $1,100,000. This building was Hartwell, named after the president of the school at that time.

According to Helen Thompson, class of 1940, Dr. Earnest Hartwell knew each of the students, and often invited students to his house for dinner. The administration also sponsored dances during this big band era.

The music of Glen Miller or Benny Goodman playing on the juke box was “in”, and the places to hang out were the Garland Hotel, the Brockport Diner, and the Roadsbury Inn according to Helen. There was no movie theater in Brockport. The Strand was an ice cream place.

These are just a few of the things that were different. Today, our enrollment is up to 8,906, and our campus consists of a lot more than one building. The music and hangouts may have changed, but one thing hasn’t! As Helen Thompson said, “Some of the happiest years of my life were spent at Brockport.” I think this statement is true whether you’re in the class of 1940 or the class of 1990.
SENIORS (sēn' yer) adj. (L senex, old) 1. older: written Sr. after a father's name if his son's name is the same. 2. one who has been counting down (since January) the days until graduation. They have heard that there is life after Brockport and can't wait to seek it.

Seniors 139

1981: There were assassination attempts on Ronald Reagan and Pope John Paul II. The 52 hostages held in Tehran were released after 444 days in captivity. * America began the Reagan years. * Dan Rather replaced the retired Walter Cronkite. Sandra Day O’Conner became the first woman Supreme Court Justice. Bulimia and PMS became "real." Americans watched D1 and Charles marry, Raiders of the Lost Ark, MTV, and played with a Rubik’s Cube. Natalie Wood died.

1982: Britain had a victory in the Falklands. Americans were mesmerized by E.T., Garfield, DoeyJy bobbers, Jane Fonda and her workout, the Smurfs, and valley girls. Rea l Men Don’t Eat Quiche was the book to read. John Belushi and Grace Kelly died.

1983: Terrorists crashed into the Beruit Marine Headquarters. KAL Flight 007 was shot down by the Soviets without an apology. * The US invaded Grenada. * American was concerned with Risky Business, Tootsie, Cabbage Patch Kids, and they wanted others to "Go ahead. Make my day." Karen Carpenter and Samantha Smith (a former guest of Yuri Andropov) died.

1984: 1,700 died in India from a gas cloud caused by a Union Carbide plant. * Famine in East Africa became well known. Geraldine Ferraro became the first female Vice President candidate. The Vietnam War Memorial was built. Americans wondered "Where’s the beef?" watched Ghostbusters and Madonna, played Trivial Pursuit, and moonwalked. Marvin Gaye and William Shroeder, who was the longest survivor on a Jarvik-7 heart, died.

1985: 151 passengers survived the hijacking of TWA Flight 847 due to Uli Derickson. * Two earthquakes rocked Mexico City. * Bernhard Goetz shot four youth in a New York subway. * Dr. Ruth Wastheimer began giving her advice. Missing kids were seen on milk cartons. Band Aid and Live Aid helped to slow the famine in East Africa. Americans watched Moonlighting, Miami Vice, and were wearing Reeboks and drinking New Coke. Rock Hudson died making AIDS a number one concern.

1986: Fergie and Andrew were married. * Chernobyl became history’s worst nuclear accident site. There were 350,000 homeless Americans. Challenger exploded, killing the entire crew. * Cory Aquino became president of the Phillipines and exiled Marcos. The US bombed Gaddel’s residence and three military bases. Americans were astonished by Vanna White, wine coolers, the Home Shopping Network and urine testing became an issue.

1987: The Iran-Contra hearings began. The stock market had Black Monday. Baby M questioned surrogate mothers. Jim and Tammy were a popular topic along with Pinheads. Americans hoped and prayed for Baby Jessica, watched the Church Lady, and LA Law. Andy Warhol and Danny Kay died.

1988: Benazir Bhutto became the first woman leader of a Muslim nation. Soviet Armenia suffered a major earthquake. Pan Am Flight 103 crashed in Scotland, killing Syracuse students. * Mr. Dukakis ran against President Bush. * Medical waste began washing up on shore. Tracy Chapman sang about the less fortunate. * Jimmy Swagert sinned. Ben Johnson was caught having used steroids. Aloha Flight 243 lost a few passengers in air. American was obsessed with Morton Downey Jr., thirtysomething, astrology, and Elvis Presley sightings.

1989: Tiananmen Square held thousands of Chinese demanding a change. * The Berlin Wall came tumbling down. Eastern bloc countries began revolutionary changes. AIDS became a worldwide concern. An earthquake shook San Francisco. Abortion became a state’s decision. Exxon spilled 11 million gallons of oil near the Alaskan coastline. Pete Rose was permanently banned from baseball for gambling. There were 3 million homeless in America. Khomini, Gilda Radner, Lucille Ball, and Bette Davis died.
My Dearest Pickles,

When was the War of 1812? What is time? Seriously though, ours is a friendship that will live FOREVER! Four years went so fast! I'll never forget out deep talks, Thanksgiving 1989, the teasing and the love that passed between us. I feel like I've known you forever. Even though we won't always be together, we will be together in thoughts. I will miss you so much!

Best of luck, my dearest friend, in all that you do. With your ambition, perseverance, and love of life, you will move mountains. Nothing can or will stand in your way. I am so proud of you, Faith. Watch out world — here you come.

I Love You!
Susan

Steve,

We love you and are very proud of you. Continue to keep your caring ways and values.
Love,
Mom & Dad

Here's to good times and good friends — you know who you are! Brockport is an experience. Thanks to Mom and all

Jodi,

Your family is very proud of you. Follow your dreams, continue to work hard. WE will be behind you all the way.

Allis,

What a nice picture. I guess you don't like mornings. Don't be too mad. I just couldn't resist. Well, where should I begin. These past four years have been wild. Improv class, the parking lot of the Lincoln, the probability that statistics class would be anything less than hysterical, "working" at the mailroom, and so much more. This year has been great. Kari and you have been really good friends, and we have had some fun times. Is the score still 3-1? Watch out, I'm going to catch up. The trip was awesome. Where are we going next year? I hope the Acapulco girls always stay close. This year is going to be hard to top, but I think next year will be just as much fun. You're welcome to crash at the apartment any time. Thanks for being such a good friend and always being there for me.

Love,
Moaner

Congratulations from the staff of
SAGA 1990
I have really enjoyed being editor of SAGA for the past two years despite the hard work, frustration, and sacrificed free time because it has given me the opportunity to get to know and work with a lot of nice people in producing a quality book. My hope is that in years to come people will look at this yearbook and fondly remember the years they spent here. We have tried to include as many of the events as possible that shaped this year. I apologize for such events as Spike Lee and others that were not included due to our deadlines.

I would like to thank the people who helped to make this book possible. The staff, for doing a super job, The Stylus, Jim Dusen school photographer, Bobbie Laddoe, Wendy Reed, and the BSG staff, especially Kaye and Becky. I would especially like to thank Susan Parrino, our advisor, for being there for me the past two years as I stumbled through trying to learn how to manage the book. Thanks to her help and guidance the production of this book was a lot smoother than last year's. I would also like to thank Bob Schiavone, our Herff Jones publishing representative, for all the help he has given us, and the people at Vardens Studios, for always having the pictures ready for us when we needed them. It has been very enjoyable working with all of these people.
