Our Voices

Our voices provide a sense of individualization for the ‘othered’ women who write their ways out of their binds. We speak for all beings, human and non-human, whose voices are muffled under a mask of systemic oppression. This is our call to arms for feminists to reach their full potential by challenging not only patriarchy but capitalism as well. Our dissenting voices want every little girl to know that she is just as worthy of ruling the world as the boy sitting next to her. Our work is a shout, not a whisper; we will not stand anymore for suppressed voices within our society. We showcase how women deserve recognition and equity to be able to care for and embrace our bodies. We are not dependent on our reproductive value. Our rights are not disputable, and our voices are immutable. Our radical thoughts differ from those before us. We are the new wave. We will dismantle patriarchy and pigs will fly.
