I. TITLE

Program in Real Estate - This program has two curricular options: 1) An Eighteen (18) hour academic minor program and 2) Coursework aimed at satisfying the entry and continuing education requirements of New York State Real Estate content licensure which will become effective November 1, 1979 (See attached addendum #3).

New York State enacted Chapter 863 of the Laws of 1977, effective November 1, 1979, to state:

1. Real Estate salespersons must attend 45 contact hours of an approved course of study.
2. Real Estate brokers must attend 90 contact hours of an approved course of study.
3. Any Real Estate licensee, broker or salesperson, must attend and successfully complete 45 contact hours of a continuing education Real Estate course every four years commencing November, 1973.

It is estimated by the Real Estate Board of Rochester that there are approximately 2,800 such licensees in the metropolitan area.

The following program meets these content license requirements as determined by the State of New York, Department of State, Division of Licensing Services. CAVEAT: In addition to the content requirements for licensure or continuing licensure, there are experience requirements which are covered in Section V of this proposal.

II. PURPOSES

The minor/continuing education program in Real Estate is an experimental, field-based curriculum intended primarily to serve the following purposes:

1. Provide Brockport's undergraduate students with a career-oriented programmatic option within the context of a liberal arts degree program.
2. Provide pre- and in-service educational opportunities for persons not enrolled in any of the College's degree programs, who either want to embark upon a career in Real Estate or meet the continuing education requirements as mandated by the State of New York.
3. Establish community-based relationships with members of the Real Estate industry in order to (a) insure a continuing supply of trained manpower, (b) utilize community-based resources in the process, and (c) provide students with on-the-job experience.

This program seeks to accomplish these objectives within the context of an identifiable, flexible, and integrated course sequence.
III. INTENDED AUDIENCE

The minor/continuing education program in Real Estate is designed for two distinct clienteles. The first clientele group is primarily concerned with the academic minor in Real Estate. Within this group, there may be a substantial number of majors in Business Administration. These students have two options: (1) Real Estate as a Specialty Area or (2) Real Estate as a Minor. Students with proper advisement will not violate the 54 credit hour maximum for BUS designated courses and ECH Specialty courses; to wit, maximum thirty-six (36) hours for major plus eighteen (18) hours for Real Estate minor.

The second clientele group is primarily concerned with the pre-or in-service continuing education program in Real Estate. It is reasonable to expect that by and large this group will be older than traditional college-age students, be primarily part-time in their studies, and be employed. Scheduling and conduct of courses will take this into consideration.

IV. STANDARDS AND CRITERIA FOR ADMISSION

1. Standards and Criteria for Admission to the Academic Minor Program.

Upper division standing (junior status, minimum of fifty-four (54) semester credit hours successfully completed). Applications may be submitted during the second semester of the student's sophomore year or may be submitted in the semester prior to the time when the student wishes to begin the minor program. A minimum grade point average of 2.5 is required. Upon successful completion of Real Estate Fundamentals and Real Estate Law, the Real Estate Coordinator will decide whether the student can (1) proceed with the supervised field experience track or (2) complete his minor program by taking eighteen (18) hours of mandated coursework. This additional screening is necessitated by the limited availability of supervised field placements.

2. Standards and Criteria for Admission to the Continuing Education Program in Real Estate.

Admission is open to all persons with a high school diploma who are in the Real Estate industry for undergraduate credit or toward a certificate of completion. Again, enrollment restrictions will be based solely on space available in the required course sequence.

3. Priority for Enrollment.

The Business and Economics Department establishes the following priority for class enrollment: (1) Business majors, (2) Nonbusiness majors—liberal arts majors, and (3) Continuing Education students.
Students will be recruited for the minor/continuing education program in Real Estate through the campus media, by the Office of Admissions, the Office of Continuing Education and in cooperation with the Real Estate industry.

V. MINOR IN REAL ESTATE

The academic minor in Real Estate is comprised of eighteen (18) semester credit hours of (1) course and field work or (2) coursework only. Successful completion of this minor will not allow students to sit for the Real Estate Broker's License examination administered by the State of New York, Department of State, Division of Licensing Services, unless and until they have completed additional field work requirements. The State of New York requires a total of one year, full-time (35 hour week) experience under the supervision of a licensed Real Estate broker in order to qualify for the broker's license. This program provides students with all content requirements and approximately one third of the experience requirements for licensure.

The minor in Real Estate has two programmatic tracts: (1) a supervised field experience tract in which the student takes a core of six hours required of all students, an elective area in which the student selects six hours from twelve offered and a supervised field experience of six credit hours and (2) a mandated coursework tract in which the student takes eighteen hours of mandated coursework.

1. Supervised field experience tract.

The core is comprised of:

- BUS 455 Fundamentals of Real Estate 3 Credit Hours
- BUS 477 Real Estate Law 3 Credit Hours

These two required courses form the minimal coursework basis for broker's licensure in New York State. Each course will be offered in the evening on the Brockport campus. SEE Course Description in Addendum #7.

The elective area is comprised of:

- BUS 456 Real Estate Appraisal 3 Credit Hours
- BUS 457 Property Management 3 Credit Hours
- BUS 458 Real Estate Finance 3 Credit Hours
- BUS 459 Federal Income Tax 3 Credit Hours

The student must select two (2) of the above courses which are intended to give him an opportunity for a depth of understanding in a particular area of Real Estate. These courses offer students a knowledge of urban land economics, patterns of land use, nature of Real Estate values and finance, property management, requisition and transfer of land by deed, mortgages, leases, taxation and the Real Estate brokerage business.
The program attempts to combine both the analytical and programmatic aspects of the Real Estate profession and in so doing, blends the economic, social and political implications which constitute today's market. See Course Description in Addendum #7.

The supervised field experience:
This on-the-job instruction takes place in a Real Estate Agency under the on-site, professional supervision of a licensed Real Estate broker. In addition, the field experience is sponsored by a member of the College's faculty. Students are required to register for six (6) hours of field experience (normally, three hours in each of two successive semesters). One three (3) hour segment requires:

a. A minimum of three hundred (300) hours on-site per semester (20 hours a week for 15 weeks).

b. Directed reading assignments.

c. A field journal that integrates the specific day-to-day experiences of the field with the more general and theoretical principles of the assigned readings.

Concurrent coursework from the elective area is strongly recommended for students in the supervised field experience, and successful completion of the core coursework is required for eligibility.

2. Mandated coursework tract.

Students must take all of the following courses:

- BUS 455 Fundamentals of Real Estate 3 Credit Hours
- BUS 456 Real Estate Appraisal 3 Credit Hours
- BUS 457 Property Management 3 Credit Hours
- BUS 458 Real Estate Finance 3 Credit Hours
- BUS 477 Real Estate Law 3 Credit Hours
- BUS 485 Federal Income Tax 3 Credit Hours

VI. GOVERNANCE

The PROGRAM IN REAL ESTATE will require programmatic direction, and the coverage of four (4) courses in any given semester. It is recommended that the Coordinator of the Real Estate Program would handle the administrative affairs of the program and also teach each semester, one course in either the core or elective area, one course within the Department and one field work course. In addition, it would be necessary to identify a second faculty member capable of teaching half time in the program (that is, two (2) courses per semester in the core and elective area).

In summary, the PROGRAM IN REAL ESTATE as conceived requires the use of one and a half (1 1/2) faculty lines currently in the Department. The Coordinator of the PROGRAM IN REAL ESTATE will be assisted in policy considerations by an Advisory Board composed of three (3) members: the Chairperson of the Business and Economics Department, Mr. Charles Cleven13er and a third member to be identified from the Real Estate industry.

Dear Dr. Eramus:

Your letter has been referred to me for response.

There is no record that the Department of State received the initial copy of your letter, and this explains our inability to respond quicker.

We cannot comment on your offering. The continuing education law does not go into effect until November 1, 1979, and, at this time, we cannot give any definite opinions on whether an offering will be approved. We would also need to have more information under the applicable rules in Part 176 before we could comment.

We do believe that the subject matter offered by your courses in property management, real estate financing, and real estate appraising is suitable for approval under the continuing education requirement.

Thank you for your inquiry, and if you have any questions, please contact this agency.

Very truly yours,

Basil A. Paterson
Secretary of State

DATE:  December 5, 1977
RE:    Certification of Real Estate Law and Real Estate Fundamentals

Please be advised that the undersigned received the attached letter herein, relative to the above, dated November 22, 1977.

The business of real estate brokerage is regulated by Article 12-A of the Real Property Law for the State of New York. The Division of Licensing Services, Department of State, has promulgated rules and regulations under this statutory mandate. Rule #10 provides, in pertinent part, that David L. Lankford and Edward W. Eramus are qualified instructors for the forty-five hours of classroom instruction relative to above certification.

It also should be noted that our students, upon successful completion of Real Estate Law and Real Estate Fundamentals, would be qualified to take the brokers' examination in the State of New York.

Dear Doctor Eramus:

Pursuant to our meeting of a week ago, this letter is to act as confirmation that the Real Estate Board of Rochester, New York will be most happy to broadcast via its weekly membership newsletter (2700 copies), information concerning the availability of real estate courses and/or programs offered by the State University of Brockport.

I concur with yours and David's recommendations that the proposed courses be offered at a downtown Rochester location for the convenience of prospective students that will attend.

Upon receipt from you of courses, content, location, cost, etc., I will broadcast in our 'Board Briefs' and send you a copy.

In the event that you have any questions concerning the above matter, please contact me at 325-7790.

A Happy Holiday Season to you and your family.

Cordially,

Robert W. Milean
Assistant Executive Vice President
Thank you for writing to me and asking my comments on your proposal for a Program in Real Estate. It was a pleasure communicating with President Brown last year on real estate education, but must inform you that I have left the National Association of Realtors and have recently taken a position as Senior Staff Vice President at the National Association of Home Builders. I am forwarding your proposal, however, to the Education Department of the NAR.

I found your proposal to be excellent and feel you have done an exceptional job in establishing a program outline. The supervised field experience is an integral part of this program and am pleased that it carries the same weight as both the core and selective components. Exempting the in-service professionals in the certificate program from the field work component and given them the option of choosing all elective courses will broaden the scope of your program and make it more valuable to those already in the real estate industry. I support the dual clientele grouping and think that it is good that the academic minor includes students regardless of previous academic background.

Emphasis in my opinion, should be placed in the "Real Estate Law" class on the Real Estate Settlement Procedure Act (RESPA). As you may be aware the Department of Housing and Urban Development has recently asked for comments concerning revising RESPA and whether the industry is for or against it, a broker must be fully cognizant of its dimensions. An additional course which might be considered is the psychological aspects of buying and selling and marketing principles.

It might also seem noteworthy that once the program has been established that core classes be offered both morning and evening and that both courses be offered each semester. The same might hold true of the selective classes in that more than two of the four might be offered each semester.
Undefined or unclear in the proposal in my opinion are:

1. Definition of an upper division student.

2. How long it takes to complete the whole program. I realize that this may be different for the academic and in-service certificate curriculums.

3. What the State of New York specifically requires to be eligible to take the Real Estate Broker's License Examination.

4. Whether a business student is required to take any Real Estate courses.

I hope you find these comments to be of assistance and wish you every success in your presentation before the Faculty Senate next month.

Sincerely yours,

Richard D. Bannister
Senior Staff Vice President

Dear

We are writing to you concerning an exciting sequence of Continuing Education college credit courses in Real Estate, that State University of New York, College at Brockport has developed, entitled the "Certificate Program in Real Estate." It is a sequential series of evening courses aimed at the Real Estate audience interested in furthering their Real Estate education. The program content provides the practice with the theory and skills needed to effectively meet the demands of the Real Estate market, as described in the enclosed brochure.

The "Certificate in Real Estate" is patterned after our successful Rochester Management Studies Program. Several hundred students have attended and graduated from this popular downtown Rochester program. One of the most important factors of the Real Estate Program is that participants can use their certificate toward Brockport's minor in Real Estate and/or toward a baccalaureate degree in Business Administration. Our Real Estate Program meets the educational requirements for brokers and salespersons as mandated by the Secretary of State for the State of New York. Further, the Real Estate Board of Rochester and the National Association of Realtors, have endorsed this program of study.

We feel we are capable of providing an instructional program for you and your associates at a reasonably low rate. If you would like more information about the programs, please contact us at our Rochester Continuing Education Center (716) 325-8030 or at our Brockport Continuing Education Center.

We look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,
Dear

Thank you for your recent inquiry into the "Certificate Program in Real Estate", as sponsored by SUNY, College at Brockport. You will find that our program provides meaningful learning experiences which blend both real estate theory and practice.
