The Graduate Policies Committee recommends acceptance of the attached emphasis revision which results in the addition of the emphasis: Community Mental Health Counselor to the M.S. in Education.

The new emphasis gives more definition to what was previously considered under Non-Educational Settings. The total hours have been increased from 36 to 39, a prerequisite of an Undergraduate or Graduate Statistics course has been included, a second internship will be required, and two courses which were electives (Theories of Personality, and Psychopathology) will be required in the new emphasis.

The new emphasis is in addition to two other existing emphases: Educational Settings a. School Counselor, b. Higher Education and College Student Personnel Services.

The new emphasis addresses increased student interest according to employment goals. One-third of the 1979-80 graduating class have taken positions as community mental health counselors.
