RE: College Calendar

I am attaching draft versions of the proposed academic calendar for the five-year period 1997-2002, based upon the Senate recommendations as amended by you. These versions are now pretty clean (having passed by the eagle eye of Lou Spiro along the way) but do not include the academic year obligation for faculty (someone else's call), or the requisite footnotes, including one reminding the faculty of their responsibilities with regard to religious holidays. Those, and any other items that you or your staff might deem useful, can be added before anyone gets to publication time. The information regarding instructional hours, days and weeks is for your staff's information only, and is not intended to be included, of course.
