Resolution #35

Resolution to Endorse the “Statement on Tolerance” issued by the University Faculty Senate Executive Committee

WHEREAS The College at Brockport has long been committed to civil discourse within and reaching beyond the bounds of the Campus, as denoted in the “Better Community Statement” developed decades ago and reaffirmed in the past several years by the College Senate, Student Assembly, College Administration, and many individual faculty, staff, students, and alumni; and

WHEREAS this past fall the Executive Committee of the College Senate endorsed and published a statement individually signed by several hundred faculty and staff at the college, attesting; and

We, the undersigned, faculty and staff at The College at Brockport, come together across disciplines, departments, and professional units at the College, across diverse political orientations and ideologies, to publicly embrace a learning, working, and living environment in which every person is safe, respected, and included. In response to the intensification of intolerance and intimidation on college campuses across the nation, we will continue to actively foster a learning environment in which students, faculty and staff of every race, ethnicity, origin, citizenship, class, gender, sexuality, ability, religion, and age can fully engage without fear in the exchange and exploration of ideas. We share a faith in the value of inclusive public education, recognizing that our collective pursuit of intellectual, creative, and professional excellence is strengthened by our diversity. We want our students, our colleagues, and the larger community to know that we are committed to cultivating an interconnected community marked by transformative engagement, civil dialogue, intercultural understanding, critical inquiry, and creative collaboration for the common good.

We reaffirm our commitment to guiding principles of integrity, civility, and justice as articulated in The College at Brockport's "Better Community Statement" (<https://brockport.edu/about/diversity/whatwearedoing.html>).

WHEREAS faculty, staff, students and alumni have independently and collaboratively initiated and sustained efforts to cultivate a campus culture within which all students, faculty and staff, alumni and visitors, regardless of race, ethnicity, religion, nationality or national origin, gender identity, sexual orientation, political or ideological perspectives, are able to live and learn safely, engaging in mutually enriching critical inquiry and creative expression;

Therefore, BE IT RESOLVED that the College Senate, representing the Faculty and Professional Staff of The College at Brockport, State University of New York, echoes the University Faculty Senate in endorsing the following Statement on Tolerance issued by the Executive Committee of the University Faculty Senate of the State University of New York:

Statement on Tolerance

The Executive Committee of the University Faculty Senate of the State University of New York issues the following statement:

Over the last few weeks, reported incidences of hate speech, intimidating messages, and threats of violence against students and other members of our academic communities have increased across the nation and on our college and university campuses. Hate speech, intimidation, and threats are antithetical to the spirit of higher education, institutions that promote dialogue and the exchange of ideas. Any behavior that threatens the safety and freedom of expression on our campuses and our society at large cannot be tolerated.

The SUNY University Faculty Senate affirms its commitment to develop and cultivate campus climates that support and welcome the diversity of our modern, pluralistic society. As a great public university system, our academic communities support critical inquiry, free expression, and diverse opinions. We depend on the contributions of a diverse community as we face the expanding challenges around us. We advocate a culture that promotes diversity and inclusion in all its forms and we challenge that which silences and menaces members of our community.

Accordingly, we strongly condemn intolerance and hateful expression on our campuses and in our broader communities. We share the publicly expressed sentiments of our faculty and staff leaders, by our campus presidents, and by the leadership of United University Professions that supports the importance of civil, respectful modes of discourse. The State University of New York was founded in the late 1940s on a principle of providing access to those who had been denied opportunities for higher education due to race, ethnicity, or religion. That core principle has not changed; rather, it has expanded to include an enriching variety of individuals and cultures. We reaffirm that principle and call upon all members of the SUNY community to conduct themselves with civility, tolerance, and respect for the diversity of people and ideas.
