NOTES:
Guidelines for Revision of Undergraduate Programs
Updated Fall 2008

Distinction between significant and slight changes

Significant programmatic changes are characterized by one or more of the following:

- Credits change within the existing program (Example: increasing or reducing the total number of required credits).
- Changes in requirements for the existing program (Examples: altering the number of required vs. elective credits; substituting a new requirement for an old requirement such that it alters the substance or focus of the program; changes that could prove a burden to current majors/minors who are “grandfathered” into the older program; etc.)
- One or more departments are affected by the changes (Examples: eliminating, or adding, prerequisites, corequisites or requirements that are provided by other programs (Examples: A program in the natural sciences adds a calculus requirement; A program in the humanities adds an additional language requirement; A program in the Health Sciences drops a biology requirement.)
- Increase of resources is required to implement the change (Examples: the revision requires additional staff or equipment)

Slight programmatic changes: If none of the above conditions occurs, then the change is considered slight in nature. Slight revisions, if approved by the Undergraduate Curriculum and Policies Committee, will be presented to the senate but will not require a Senate vote. A proposal involving major significant programmatic change will necessitate full Senate discussion and approval.

To begin that process items 1-8 must be sent to the Senate Office:

- A completed College Senate Proposal Cover letter available from the College Senate website
- A side-by-side comparison of the old and new program Credit hours must be included for each course and totaled in clear tabular form.
- A brief rationale for changes, e.g. new direction in field
- Description of any new courses
- Staffing issues
- Academic administration commentary
  - Letter of recommendation from chair
  - Letter of recommendation from Dean of School
- Resources, facilities that may be needed to implement the program
- If appropriate, letters of support from cooperating or affected agencies, ITS, library or other units/departments that may be involved.
III. Guidelines for new option in within a major or program: Adding an academic minor or track within an academic program would be an example of the type of proposal covered by these guidelines and the following must accompany such a proposal:

- A completed College Senate Proposal Cover letter available from the College Senate website
- Rationale for the new option
- Entrance requirements, if appropriate
- Program requirements, if appropriate
- Description of new courses and a side-by-side comparison of the old and new program Credit hours must be included and totaled in clear tabular form
- Sequence in which the courses would be offered to guarantee timely completion of the program
- Staffing issues
- Resources, facilities that may be needed to implement the program
- Academic administration commentary
  - Letter of recommendation from chair
  - Letter of recommendation from Dean of School
- If appropriate, letters of support from cooperating departments, agencies, and etc.

IV. Guidelines for an entirely new program

Construct the proposal according to SUNY Central Guidelines available in Handbook for the Submission of Undergraduate Program at http://www.sysadm.suny.edu/provost/programreview/index.html (At the Provost’s site click the HANDBOOK DOC FORMAT link then use Appendix A& B from this document to prepare your proposal)

Send the completed proposal to the Senate Office along with a completed College Senate Proposal Cover letter available from the College Senate website.
